The man who invented the popular phrase, "plow deep while sluggards sleep, and ye shall have corn to sell and keep," should have added "but wait till past snow and sleet, your neighbor's corn planting to beat."

Don't forget the big auction sale of town lots at Stanton May 6. Go to see who else buys if you don't want to buy a lot for yourself.

Dr. C. M. Driver and family, of Schollsville, visited the family of R. P. Rose in this city Wednesday night.

Twelve Months Dead Line.

By order of the Postoffice Department all weekly papers can no longer be mailed as second-class matter to subscribers twelve months or more in arrears. In complying with this new ruling we have been compelled to cut off 300 names, and all subscribers from this time on will have to be promptly dropped when their subscription becomes twelve months past due. Please keep yourself from under the dead line by paying one year in advance. Publisher.

which is the most desirable addition to the columns, dispose of the lots at public auction and the date of sale has been fixed for next Wednesday, May 6th.

The American Land Company is an old hand at the business, and they never take hold of anything not worth fooling with. This Company has in these lots some valuable property, though not accounting for their exceeding value, the company will sell all of these lots at public sale the day mentioned. See half-page advertisement in this paper for particulars.

An Unexpected Tide.

We had another bottom sweep in the river Sunday, but not nearly such a tide as we had April 1. The local rains Friday did not raise the river an inch. It was all head waters from up the river which fell Friday night, and the stream did not begin to rise here until Saturday noon but it raised until Sunday noon. It began falling Sunday night and dropped out as fast as it came up.

Your attention is called to the new advertisement of B. F. Berry, undertaker, West Bend, in this issue. Mr. Berry handles a nice line of burial goods and coffins, and besides he is prepared to furnish on short notice any kind of homemade coffin.

From the Farm Journal.

What a joy is born of Spring,
When the birds begin to sing,
And you smell the apple-blossoms
In the orchard down the lane.

When lilacs bloom, their purple sprays
The garden's drowsy depths perfume;
A splendor fills the summer days,
When lilacs bloom.

Without 'tis beauty everywhere,
And violets and roses rare,—
All Nature seemeth glad,
No longer blasts from wintry wind,
The dreary days are far behind;
And shall the heart be sad?

The gentlest western breezes blow,
The brooklets murmur as they flow
'Neath skies of softest blue;
The robin pipes from bush and tree
Its songs of joyous melody,—
Oh, let the heart sing, too!

The plow talks now.

After each rain stir the ground;
once in ten days whether it rains or not.

An hour of thinking is oftentimes better than a week of hustling.

Happy is he who knows how to get along with all he can get and how to do without all he can not get.

Try to add an extra kernel to every ear of your corn this year. You can do it by choosing the best perfect ears for seed, and by caring for your crop all the way through as if you were after the blue ribbon prize.

Cultivate, cultivate, cultivate! Remember that it is possible by thorough cultivation to grow a good crop without fertilizer, but impossible to raise a good crop with all the fertilizer you can pile on if no cultivation is given.

Dedicate one Saturday morning this spring for a general clean-up around the place. Burn all the old rubbish, make wood out of old boxes, boards and barrels, sow grass seed on the bare spots around the house and barn, and apply the paint brush to the buildings if they need it. A general "fixing up" will give a neat appearance to the place and add dollars to its value.

Let the merchant advertise,
The farmer fertilize,
The minister spiritualize,
And the lawyer talkolies.
